

I understand that you are considering overturning New Jersey's 'Do Not Call' law. I do not see a significance in the overturn. If someone puts there number on the do not call list, then they do not want to be called by telemarketers. Overturning the law again will only cause people to get more angry at these callers.